

Peter Teet

“Ey, Pete, Oi saw ye’ c’min. Can ye’ throw dat towel in the ‘amper before da larvi ‘atch.”

Whitmore’s discarded towel landed on Peter, Seamus’ oldest friend, covering him from head to toe.

Seamus had met Pete before heading west when he joined Luthor’s Enchanted Lunatics, a traveling circus and freak-show. Seamus kept the performers hair trim and proper, while Peter, who stands at thirteen inches tall, performed under the stage name, Peter Teet; Shortest little treat in the seven seas. They headed for the west coast, but when their version of ‘The World’s Strongest Man’ suffered a stroke outside of Wichita the group went their separate ways. Seamus and Pete stuck together, eventually landing in Independence, Colorado.